Graduate Students Welcome!

IAMFC welcomes and encourages graduate students to enter our organization while still pursuing their studies. IAMFC realizes that it is vitally important to involve graduate students and new professionals in our organization, and others with which we are affiliated, as soon as possible in order to enhance their personal professional development as well as to initiate those who will be the leaders of tomorrow.

EAAD Counselors from Turkey Welcome!

IAMFC welcomes Counselors from Turkey.

About The Family Journal

The Family Journal advances the theory, research and practice of counseling with couples and families from a family systems perspective. The journal provides groundbreaking, innovative scholarship for counseling researchers, educators and practitioners.

To help you keep pace with the field, The Family Journal blends theory, research and practice in each issue. Research articles include quantitative, qualitative, and evaluation designs. Descriptive articles address current issues, innovative methods, and professional concerns. Other offerings include case studies, interviews, and timely literature reviews. To insure the most diverse coverage, there are regularly featured sections.

- Case consultation
- Couples and families
- Couples, families, and health
- Counselor training
- Ethics
- International corner
- Literature reviews
Who will benefit from The Family Journal?

Anyone involved with counseling and therapy for couples and families today faces pressing challenges. The Family Journal is a reliable, comprehensive resource that serves the needs of a wide audience:

- For researchers….up-to-date articles in both empirical research and conceptual scholarship, plus reviews of recent literature
- For educators….the latest research and theory keeps coursework current, in addition to articles focusing on counselor training
- For practitioners….articles include implications for practice, plus a regular section on practical ideas and tips

The Family Journal is edited by:
Stephen Southern, Ed.D., Department Chair and Professor at Mississippi College, Clinton Mississippi. In his 30 years of professional experience, he has integrated roles of clinician, supervisor, consultant, administrator, and educator. Dr. Southern taught psychology, counselor education, criminal justice, sociology, and education courses at several institutions including University of Southern Mississippi, University of North Texas, and Temple University. He completed postdoctoral studies at Masters and Johnson Institute and served as clinical consultant with the Masters & Johnson treatment programs for trauma-based disorders. Dr. Southern has been a member of several editorial boards including the Journal of Addictions and Offender Counseling and the Journal of Sex Education & Therapy. He is Chair of the IAMFC Ethics Committee.

About The Family Digest (electronic newsletter)

The Family Digest, published three times annually, is a newsletter aimed at keeping IAMFC membership up to date on the current activities of the organization and abreast of news and developments that are affecting the field, from changes in mental health legislation to workshops, institutes, and other professional development opportunities across the U.S. and around the world. The newsletter also features brief articles on issues relating to marital and family counseling.
